Progress Continues on School Improvements

Breaking Ground on Four Schools

Thanks to design input from community members, students and District staff, three new elementary schools and Reynolds High School are nearly ready to progress into construction. Wilkes, Troutdale and Fairview elementary schools will be replaced with new schools on the existing sites. RHS will receive significant renovations and additions. All students will remain in their schools while construction is underway.

Security Improvements

Safety and security improvements have been completed at three schools: Sweetbriar and Salish Ponds elementary schools and Reynolds Middle School. Next summer, nine more schools will receive upgrades, including secured entrances, exterior locking doors, and cameras.

Benefiting Schools and Our Community

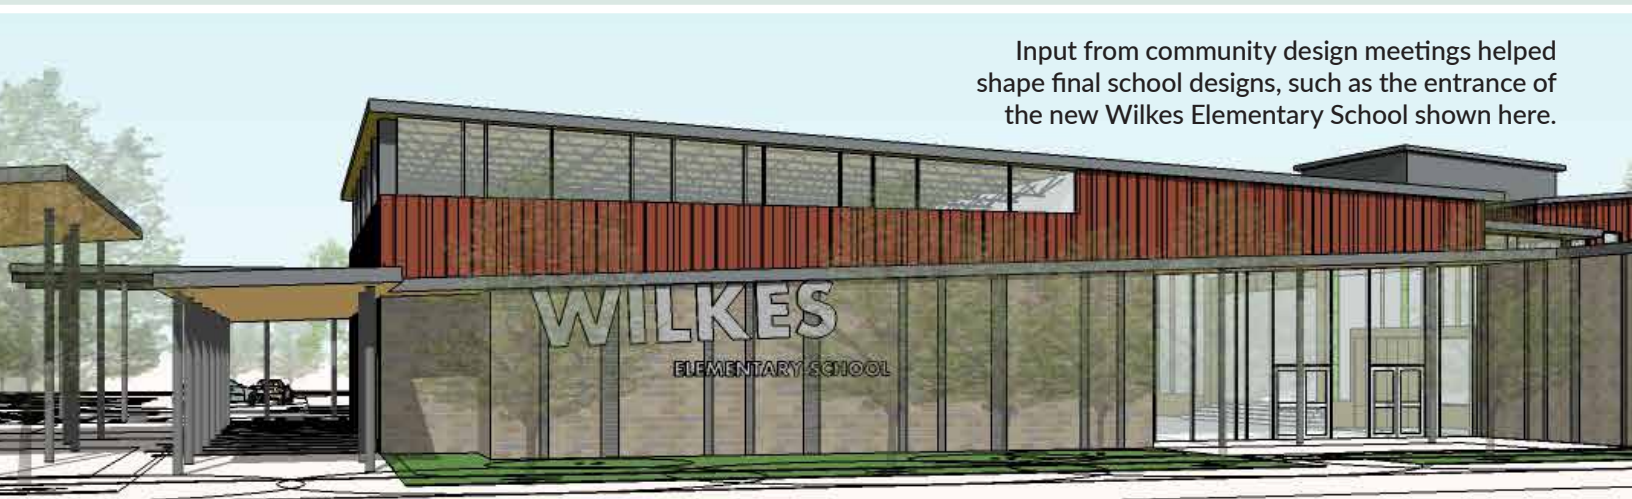

The District is committed to providing contracting opportunities to local and diverse businesses, as well as making sure bond funds are spent effectively. A program is in place to work toward bond program equity and contracting goals. A Citizen Oversight Committee reviews project expenditures and progress, helping ensure the highest level of accountability.

What you can expect during construction

- Neighbors will be notified prior to construction activities that affect them.
- Summer programs at some schools may be affected.
- All schools will be move-in ready by fall 2018.
- Stay informed of all bond project activities and sign up for email updates on the website.

Thank you to the Reynolds community for your support of the bond measure and continued investment in our school district!

Input from community design meetings helped shape final school designs, such as the entrance of the new Wilkes Elementary School shown here.

New school designs, construction schedules and more information available on the bond website. Stay up-to-date by signing up for email updates.
