Welcome to Economics! I am looking forward to getting to know you and helping you understand how our economic system works.

Required Textbooks/Materials: We are using an online textbook called Active Classroom this year. We will also use many other resources. You will need:

- 1) a one subject spiral notebook for notes.
- 2) a section in a binder (or a folder) for handouts.
- 3) your Chromebook. Bring your Chromebook to class every day.
- 4) a small (1 inch) binder for the My Grown Up Life Project

Course Description: The goal of Economics class is to help students understand how our economic system functions and provide basic financial information they will need to participate in it and achieve financial independence. We will also explore current issues in Economics and Government in this class. Most students will continue on to American Government spring semester.

Course Requirements: Students need to be present and participate actively in class each day. Most class sessions will require a combination of notes taken and participation in an activity or discussion. Students should be checking Schoology and completing their assignments or working on their My Grown Up Life Project. Below is a description of what we will study, but checking Schoology on Monday is the best way to see exactly what we are doing each week.

Unit Topics will include:

Unit 1 (Weeks 1-5): Opportunity Cost
The Four Factors of Production
Law of Demand
Determinants of Demand or "Demand Shifters"
Law of Supply
Determinants of Supply or "Supply Shifters"
Equilibrium
Surplus
Shortage
Demand Elasticity
Demand Inelasticity
Unit 1 Exam around 10/6

Unit 2 (Weeks 6-10): Personal Financial Management
Gross and Net Income
Taxes
Budgeting
Meal Planning
Checking and Savings accounts
Transportation
Finding Housing
Roommate Agreements

(these are some of the things included in the My Grown Up Life Project, which is due Nov. 21).

Unit 3 (Weeks 11-14): Economic Indicators
GDP
Unemployment
Inflation
The Business Cycle

Unit 4 (Weeks 15-18): Comparative Economic Systems
Prepare for Final Exam over Units 3 and 4
Final Exam is 1/22/25

Grading Policy: The following categories will make up your grade.

30%: Assessments and the My Grown Up Life Project

65%: Classwork (completed during class or independently)

5%: POWER Expectations

Late Work: Late work is worth half credit until the announced cut off for each unit. After that it will not be accepted. There are no retakes on tests.

POWER is a set of school-wide goals. Students are expected to be:

P--- Punctual and Prepared (Be on time and prepared)

O--- Organized (Use a planner or organizational system)

W--- Writers (Write notes daily in classes)

E--- Engaged (Participate, communicate with teacher, phone away during class)

R--- Respectful (Demonstrate a respectful attitude, do not distract others)
